Appendix (A) IDN's Rules and Table of the Arabic language

IDN table of the Arabic letters

Table identity: Arabic

Version: 1-1

Publication date: 14-1-2014

Reference URL: <https://www.centralnic.com>

Clarification of the rules:

- 1- Arabic is a right-to-left language. The IDN Labels that consist of letters in this table may not begin with a number (i.e. letters U+002DU+0039 and U+0660 U+0669)
- 2- The Arabic Labels may not contain European numbers and Arabic-Indian numbers, which means that the text may not be a mixture of both.
- 3- The diacritics are not allowed.
- 4- Using a hyphen instead of a space is not allowed between words.

- 5- The numbers may not be placed in the IDN at the beginning or the end of the Arabic IDN domain. The numbers, however, may appear in the middle of the IDN domain in Arabic.
- 6- IDN similarities are only allowed for the same registrar to place the similarities that lead to confusion.
- 7- The Bahrain registry may reject the IDN similarities to avoid confusion.
